“Great Prices on Great Wines!”

Fabulous Value

Penfolds Koonunga Hill Range

What about Penfolds! They make Australia’s most famous and expensive wine, Grange, but they’re also creating wonders at the value end as well. The Koonunga Hill brand goes way back to 1976 and has grown into a favourite of Aussie wine drinkers (and those around the world). We like to think of the entire Koonunga Hill range as a great expression of the Penfolds winemaking style, and it just seems to be getting better and better!

More McGuigan Magic

McGuigan Classic Dry Red 6.4.20 Pack McGuigan Classic Dry White 6.4.20 Pack

Brian ‘The Magic One’ McGuigan has a long and illustrious association with Theo’s and this is another awesome offer guaranteed to please your taste buds AND your wallet at the same time. The white is a blend of Semillon and Chardonnay, all harvested to preserve the fruit characters and offers a rich palate with a citrusy backbone and a touch of delicate oak. The red blends perfectly to make an intense, full flavoured wine with gorgeous red and blackberry fruit, spices and a sweet velvety finish.

Devilish Offer

Devil's Lair Fifth Leg Range

Yep, this is the one with the dog on the label. Why you’d never know – the winery is named after the Devil’s Lair cave, hidden amongst the hills of Margaret River where fossil remains of the Tasmanian Devil were once found. There’s a zesty white – a blend of Sauvignon Blanc, Semillon and Chardonnay; a vibrant Rosé, just brilliant with tapas and Asian food; and a Red blend of Cabernet Sauvignon, Merlot and Shiraz – just perfect with pasta, pizza and grills.

“...one of the greatest wine bargains of the world”

Pillar Box Red

The super-influential American wine critic, Robert Parker, who can make or break a wine in the US, scored this wine at 90/100 and described it as “... one of the great wine bargains of the world.” Made by winemaker Chris Ringland, whose Shiraz under his own label sells for a mind-boggling $600+, Pillar Box is a densely coloured, deeply concentrated blockbuster red – a full-blown blend of Cabernet, Shiraz and Merlot. Hunter Icon

Mt Pleasant
Philip Shiraz or
Elizabeth Semillon

We are attracted to the Philip and Elizabeth because the styles are different which gives us taste diversity and they show some bottle maturation which in turn builds the flavour complexity. Also they are fairly priced. The Philip is partly sourced from top notch vineyards including the Rosehill and the Hurlstone in the Lower Hunter and then from contract growers in the Mount View sub region.

Grab some of the best from McLaren Vale. These are wonderful wines and look at the price! Top quality fruit, mostly from old vines from premium vineyard areas and yet they sell for only a few dollars more than Riverland wine. We have tremendous respect for the winemaking skills at Ingoldby. New and seasoned oak has been used but the real display here is vibrant rich fruit. Will improve for 5-7 years if you desire.

Coonawarra Classic

Jamiesons Run Cabernet
Shiraz Merlot, Shiraz,
Cabernet or Merlot

Jamiesons Run, based in the heart of the famous Coonawarra region, was a remote outback sheep station owned by the Jamieson brothers in the mid 1800s. So from one of Australia's finest wine regions come these truly pedigree wines at brilliantly low prices. The wine glut strikes again. There's a spicy Shiraz, a seductive Merlot, an elegant rich Cabernet Sauvignon, and a classic Coonawarra blend of Cabernet, Shiraz & Merlot. Classic stuff.

Bargain New Zealand Pinot

Oyster Bay Pinot Noir

Pinot is a very frustrating grape to make good wine from. It's best in the hands of the winemaker-artist. The best are made in terribly small quantities, and you have guessed it, are most expensive. You also need a very cool climate, Tassie is good, but New Zealand is making a great attempt to provide a high quality Pinot at a fair price. This Pinot from Oyster Bay sourced from Marlborough is a fine example at a more reasonable price.

Seriously Good Stuff

Brands of Coonawarra
Shiraz or
Cabernet Sauvignon

Brand's is located in Coonawarra's famous terra rossa (red earth) heartland. The winery, established in 1893, includes the revered Laira vineyard and is widely regarded as one of the region's best, producing wines of exceptional quality. Coonawarra is known the world over for its superb Cabernet Sauvignon, but locals (and Theo's) know it has a long tradition for producing top Shiraz. Don't miss these seriously good wines – just fabulous with a rare roast of beef or lamb.

Pure Barossa

Saltram Mamre Brook
Shiraz or

Mamre Brook is the original house at the Saltram Winery in the Barossa Valley. For six generations it has been the home of Saltram's chief winemaker, including the incumbent, Nigel Dolan, and before him his father, Brian. These Mamre Brook reds are characterised by their warm, generous flavours: the Cabernet has rich, dark plum and chocolate overtones; and the Shiraz is pure Barossa with nuances of plums, mulberries and vanillin oak. Will cellar for 5-10 years.

Drayton's Cabernet Merlot or Shiraz

The Drayton family commenced farming the Hunter in 1853 and made their first wines in 1859. It has been steady progress ever since. As we say, old family values are never beaten and with this range of wines you get the skills of winemaker Trevor Drayton at a great value price. These reds are tremendous everyday drinking styles. The Cabernet Merlot has a wisp of cedar and berries, the Shiraz touches of mulberry and soft tannins.

Astonishing Wines

Houghton Stripe Range

Astonishing is as good a word as any to describe this range of wines. They are brilliant examples of wine making from the Golden West and the price is most attractive. We would suggest that for the majority of wine drinkers, products such as these will provide all the drinking satisfaction needed. A range such as this could not have been produced 10 years ago and certainly not at this price point. We call them the price fighters and they have had the interesting side effect of trading customers down in price. These are indeed golden days for wine drinkers.

More NZ Magic

Babich Pinotage Cabernet or Semillon Chardonnay

Making its first wines in 1916 just north of Auckland, Babich is one of New Zealand's oldest and most respected wine companies. Pinotage is a South African hybrid developed by crossing the famous Burgundy grape Pinot Noir with Cinsaut from southern France. Blended with Cabernet it's a plummy, chunky style with a real savoury edge. Meanwhile, the Semillon Chardonnay has softly textured tropical fruit and lingering citrus flavours – great with antipasto or first courses.

Goundrey Homestead Cabernet Merlot & Unwooded Chardonnay

As we have said on a number of occasions they really love planting vines in WA. The result is that the WA wine scarcity of a few years ago, has given way to plenty ... and lower prices for you! The more we see of these Great Southern wines of Goundrey, the more unique we think they are. Wolf Blass Eaglehawk Range

Released in 1988, the Eaglehawk range was created by the Wolf Blass winemakers who are able to make great quality wine at all different levels. This dynamic, feathery brand has always provided amazing value for money and we are constantly astounded as to how they can make such great wine for such a little price. "Shades of Tuscany"

Clare Valley Vignerons Cabernet Merlot or Shiraz

The Clare Valley is regarded by many as one of the most beautiful vineyard regions in Australia. "Shades of Tuscany," some say. Dry and warm with cool evenings during ripening, it has similarities to Tuscany's continental climate. Shiraz and Cabernet are the two great wines of the Clare after Riesling – and here we have two beauties. The Shiraz has overtones of cracked pepper and prunes, while the Cabernet Merlot has blackcurrant and chocolate flavours. Both brilliant with a thick steak.

James Busby was Australia's first viticulturist, who propagated hundreds of varieties in the country's first vineyard, the Sydney Botanic Gardens. The wine range of the same name is a tribute to this pioneer and appropriately sources fruit from many of Australia's oldest established vineyard regions. Cool Coast Fruit

Jamiesons Run Limestone Coast Chardonnay

Yes, the folks at Jamiesons Run have done it again. This time, they have delivered a trophy winning chardonnay that has a modest sell price. Jamiesons Run is the name now given to the former Mildara Winery, which is situated in Coonawarra. The Limestone Coast covers all the vineyard areas that are grown on the limestone plains of South Eastern South Australia. So this includes, Coonawarra, Padthaway, Robe and Wrattonbully. In our view, Chardonnays made in this area are more elegant and show cooler flavours, than those from warm districts such as the Clare and McClaren Vale, but are not steely like those from Tasmania.

Hardy's Oomoo Unwooded Chardonnay

The number of new Australian wine labels that feature native animals on the label is getting beyond a joke, but we're prepared to forgive the Oomoo label that features – guess what – an emu and a kangaroo, because it is actually a reproduction of a Hardy's label from the nineteenth century. First there was the Oomoo Shiraz that took wine critics by surprise and now there's an Unwooded Chardonnay that is great for Sunday lunches or, really, any time at all. Even with those critters on the front, these wines are hard to resist and on a quality for price ratio as rare as a Tasmanian tiger.

Great Whites... Watch them Go!

Remarkable Whites at a Budget Price

Diamond Ridge Semillon Sauvignon Blanc or Chardonnay

Over the last 20 years Australia has become one of the top value-for money wine producers in the world. Grant Burge Barossa Vines Range

We all know the Grant Burge Barossa Vines Shiraz is a winner – the words Barossa and Shiraz have just about become synonymous! And we know the Barossa makes great easy drinking Semillon. But wait until you wrap your lips around the Chardonnay. Really, is there anything the Barossa can't do? After tasting these wines the Theo's crew would have to shout a resounding "No!" It's generally agreed that the Clare Valley produces Australia's best Rieslings. So when we come across one that's also great value, it's our job at Theo's to let you know about it. With aromas of fresh lifted lime, subtle tropical fruit and the crisp acid palate, this is a winner with oysters and Asian food. And the critics all agree. Right up there with the best

Sandalford Semillon Sauvignon Blanc

Margaret River is the perfect place to grow freshly flavoured Semillon Sauvignon Blanc blends and Sandalford have some of the oldest vines in this prestigious region. They don't command the prices of the region's best but this is good news for you and me because the quality is right up there with more expensive examples from this lovely part of West Australia. The key has been in Sandalford's focus on improving the fruit from their own estate vineyards as well as modernisation in the winery. All this work has paid off in the bottle. This is a top example of the style that will thrill fans of Margaret River whites without paying the usual $20 plus you'd expect to pay.

Fresh and Juicy

Four Sisters Sauvignon Blanc Semillon

When winemakers get it right the blend of Sauvignon Blanc with Semillon works perfectly. Four Sisters was one of a number of companies that saw the potential and got the blend right many years ago. Most of the time they include a portion, about 10-15% of New Zealand Sauvignon from Marlborough as this adds a green, punchy lift to the wine. They then choose from a number of areas in Victoria and may at times add fruit from cool areas of Western Australia. The wine is a joint venture between Mount Langhi Giran and Tahbilk, both famous wineries. The label depicts the four daughters of the original winemaker at Mount Langhi, Trevor Mast.
